Project Background

One of the biggest, most costly and ever growing problem affecting mobile operators, Carriers and Regulators nowadays is Interconnect Bypass Fraud, also known as Simbox, GSM Gateway Bypass or International Gateway Bypass Fraud. This widespread telecom fraud scenario involves bypassing standard interconnect paths by illegal redirection of traffic through a special device – Simbox, also called FCT (Fixed Cellular Terminal), GSM Gateway or SIM Gateway. The growing popularity of inexpensive and readily available Voice over IP (VoIP) has made the Interconnect Bypass Fraud even more widespread – Sandboxes have been mushrooming all over the world.

Simbox fraudulent equipment is used for illegal bypassing the standard network interconnections in order to make a call appear as an on-net one. The traffic that would normally enter the operator's network as a mobile terminating call is then switched to become an intra-network call (on-net traffic) or off net call. The bypass fraud scenario most often consists in unauthorized illegal use of GSM gateways in order to bypass existing international gateway switches (legal agreed interconnect points) and consequently the termination fees to the detriment of telecom operators. Thus, landing off-net calls onto a mobile operator's network makes interconnection mobile terminated calls seem to be much cheaper on-network calls.

The Simbox fraud scenario exploits the difference between legally authorized interconnect charges and cheaper illegal call routes, e.g. VoIP. Thus the affected operators would obtain much higher revenue if there were no Sandboxes bypassing interconnect points, because termination fees for on-net calls are less than termination fees for interconnect calls. And also if calls came through Simbox its increase the Security risk of country.

(Project objective)

The main scope of this project is: to increase the Revenue through incoming international call and good quality incoming voice call and decrease the security risk in our country

In order to stay ahead of the ever evolving fraudsters, we continually improve our system to ensure SIM Boxes continue to be discovered with absolute accuracy and to avoid being detected by advanced SIM Box fraudsters.

Live Test call is working within a full service model. Each customer is allocated a dedicated Interconnect and Fraud Consultant who follows up the trends in the results on a continuous basis and adapts and optimizes the test schedules accordingly. Detailed analyses are made and a continuous follow-up guarantees the maximum results.

With Live test call Detection methodology, you are 100% sure that the detected numbers are used in SIM Boxes. We rapidly identify these so you can deactivate the relevant SIM cards automatically before they become profitable.

If the number of calls are attempted less then agreed call/day, the vendor will be charged based on agreed rate/call, and if the vendor reported real customer as Simbox number, the call will not be counted with agreed total amount of calls/day.

For every normal customer (ON Net-Off –Net) which is the companies detect as Simbox we count 0.2$ on companies and deduct from his payment
