

Minister of Communication & Information Technology

By designing the required policies and implementing national projects, we are determined to pave the way for digital transformation and strengthen the digital economy.